Super!

Great vocab!

is doesn't

but Lottie doesn't know why.
All she knows is she's evil
and she is interested in controlling people's minds. Lottie also doesn't know why Pandora is interested in her. When Uncle Jack told her that Lottie wasn't his daughter it said, "She looked like she swallowed a hedgehog." I am excited to see if Lottie
finds out the answers!

Hamster magic

I feel the scene where Pandora comes into the shop is important because if you are reading the book you learn more about her. Also it is important because afterward Lottie learns that Pandora hates her because of what happened before she was born. Now Lottie just has to find out what happened before she was born.

Excellent!

Thinking Beyond and About The Text

I do not think the way the author organized the text is effective. I think this because in the beginning I thought the main character was a dog but then I thought it was a person. Maybe the author could have put a "ruff, ruff" if it was a dog. I do not think that the author wrote the beginning of the story effective.

Good
